

Dos Fuerzas

Existen dos fuerzas (vectores no rectos) básicos (las que, por definición, para ser tales, para ser atraídas o repelidas, sine quanon, y por definición, deben estar previamente "polarizadas", i.e. "cargadas") en toda la naturaleza: aquella "activa", "Yang", el "giro" ("spín") digamos en el sentido horario, "reductora", "ácida", "protónica", (H+), negentrópica, erótica (Eros=vida), trigonómicamente el Seno a $45^\circ = 0.707$, representada, tradicionalmente, por el número e , que es atraída por la otra fuerza, a 90° de la primera (Ley de la "mano derecha") en su afán de "retornar a la unidad", aquella "pasiva", "Ying", con su "giro", digamos anti-horario, "oxidante", "alcalina", "electrónica" (OH-), entrópica, tanática (Tanatos=muerte), trigonómicamente el Coseno a $135^\circ = -0.707$, que atrae a la otra fuerza, en el caso del Agua, para formar ésta $H^+ OH^- = H_2O$. (óxido de di-hidrógeno)

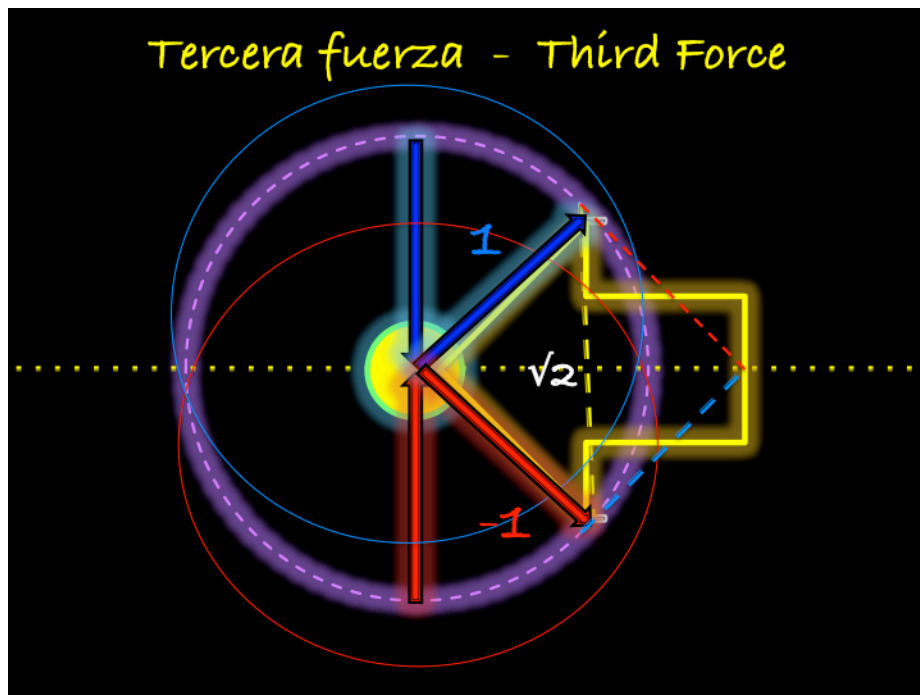

En el caso evolutivo, negentrópico, Ying y Yang, se suman, unen en el ejemplo del agua, como OH- y H+, pero esta vez como "alma" o "vapor" del agua, que no cae gravitatoriamente ("gravidez") sino se eleva, con HOH (hidróxido de hidrógeno)

No se hallan, pues, "opuestas" a 180° , equivalente a 6 meses: $30 \times 6 = 180^\circ$, sino, como se halla en el Compás del Feng-Shuí, a 90° , equivalente a 3 meses: $30 \times 3 = 90$. (aproximadamente, ya que en la actualidad el calendario es de 365 días y no de 360).

Este fenómeno, en matemáticas, se llama "adición de vectores" y, en el lenguaje tradicional, "matrimonio" ($\mu\alpha\tau\epsilon\rho$ =mater = materia; $\mu\omicron\nu\omicron$ =mono=uno), una materia/cuerpo. Que, en el caso de la opción entrópica, involutiva, se manifiesta "hacia abajo", en un tercer ser independiente, un "nuevo ser", masculino o femenino, originando una especie de "inmortalidad biológica". Por otro lado, en la opción negentrópica, evolutiva, se manifiesta "hacia arriba", pero esta vez en un ser "sintético", la unión de ambas fuerzas, en un alma común, completándose y resolviendo aquel sentimiento de "falta" constante presente previamente en ellas: en el lenguaje alquímico una "coincidentia oppositorum" de "mercurio" y "azufre" y que es llamada la "Sal" (Cloro y Sodio, en el universal Cloruro de Sodio, Sal común) o "el andrógino": ambas vueltas a reunir como: $(1+1=0)$.

Two Forces

There are two basic forces (not straight vectors) in nature, (those which by definition, to be such, to be attracted or repelled, sine quanon, must, by definition, be previously, "polarized", i.e. "charged"): One "active", "Yang", having its "spin", say, in clockwise direction, "reductant", "acidic", "protonic", (H+), negentropic, erotic (Eros=life), trigonometrically the Sine at $45^\circ = 0.707$, traditionally represented by the number 6, which is attracted by the other force, traditionally represented by the number 9, at 90° from the first one ("Right Hand Law") in its eagerness to "return to unity", the "passive" one, "Ying" with its, say, anti-clockwise "spin", "oxidizing", alkaline, electronic (OH-), entropic, tanatic (Thanatos=death), trigonometrically the Cosine at $135^\circ = -0.707$, which attracts the other force, as in the case of water, to form $H + OH^- = H_2O$. (di-hydrogen oxide)

In the evolutionary, negentropic case, Ying and Yang add up, unite in the example of water, like OH- and H+, but this time as the "soul" or "steam" of water, which does not fall gravitationally ("gravity") but it rises up, as HOH (hydrogen hydroxide).

Therefore, they are not "opposite" at 180° , equivalent to 6 months: $30 \times 6 = 180^\circ$, but as found in the Feng-Shui compass, at 90° , equivalent to 3 months: $30 \times 30 = 90^\circ$ (approximately, as the current calendar is 365 days long and not 360). This is why there are two "opposites": "forward" and "backward", where ying, it is mechanically drawn "forward", while consciously "backwards"; and inversely Yang is mechanically drawn backward and consciously, "forward".

This phenomenon, in mathematics, is called "vector addition" and, in common language "marriage" ($\mu\alpha\tau\epsilon\rho$ =meter= matter and $\mu\omicron\nu\omicron$ = mono, one): "One matter"/Body. That, in the case of the entropic, involutive option, it manifests "downwards", in a third independent being, a newborn being, masculine or feminine, provoking a kind of "biological immortality"; in the negentropic option, it is manifested "upwards", in the evolution sense, but this time in a "synthetic" being, the union of both forces, in a common soul, completing and resolving that constant feeling of "lack" previously present in each of them: in alchemical language a "coincidentia oppositorum" of "mercury" and "sulfur" and that it is called "Salt" (Chlorine and Sodium, in the universal Sodium Chloride, Common Salt) or "the Androgyne", both now reunited:
